SUPERCKETY (aka Yellow Jacket) is a body modification. The project is a project to build a kit car with a modified Porsche 964. I have some drawings of how I want the car to be. I am also ready to hire some people to build it for me. I am willing to provide all components and tools that are needed. I have the frame, subframe and a few other components ready to go. I have just not yet decided what kind of body to go with. I would like it to be vinyl if that is possible. I would like it to be white, with a V-shaped hood and rear quarter windows. I have started on the hood already. I am ready to go with a set of wheels and tires. I do not want any aftermarket wheels, slicks, or anything like that. I do want some whitewalls. I can provide all the tires that are needed. I am a process control engineer with offices in College Park, MD and Columbia, MD. I have done freelance engineering work for myself and for others. I have lots of experience with tools and I do precision work. I have years of experience doing all types of body work and car projects. I have done work for a paint shop, and a custom clothing and shoe design. I have all the tools that I need and I do not need any help getting the job done. I have purchased the shop equipment that I need and I will be doing the work in my home garage. I do have a job that I need help with on a part time basis. I will pay well for this. For help with this job, I will require a copy of a 1099 and a bank check in my name. I will start immediately and I expect to be finished in 1-2 weeks. Suppose you have a son or daughter who needs a new hip or knee replacement. You will need to make two major life decisions. You must decide: how much of the total bill you will be responsible for and who will pay. The second is even more important than the first. This is the answer to the question, "Will my kid have to take out a loan to pay for the surgery 82157476af"
